This is Mattoon. Her story is that of America, of the pioneers and prairie schooners, of the dreams and disappointments, of the laughter and labor that built a city and made a country great.

Let us go back more than a century ago to those exciting years when first the prairie sod was turned and the Illinois frontier was tamed. Listen now . . . and you can hear the heavy tread of the pioneer as he carves a civilization out of a wilderness.

Looking East on Broadway

Compliments of Anderman's

The tall, blue stemmed prairie grass, growing high as a man's head covered the gently rolling land. There were no woods or shady groves. One elm stood to mark the trail of the covered wagon.

With the voice of adventure calling them, the first pioneers settled in Coles County in the late twenties. Equipped with little more than their courage and determination, they set about building their houses, erecting little log churches and schools, and establishing a community.

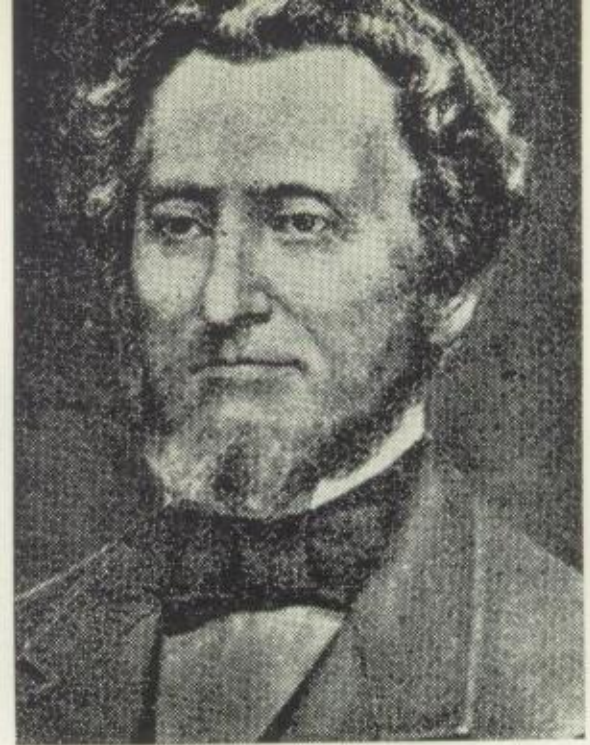

At 32nd and Western Avenue, the Lone Elm stood as a monument to the pioneer days of Mattoon.

Sponsored by Mattoon Electric Supply Company

Rumors of a railroad drifted through in 1852, and in '53, the Illinois Central started building its iron road which was destined to run through Mattoon. Meanwhile, in Indiana, the construction company of Phelps, Mattoon, and Barnes began laying the tracks and driving the spikes of another railroad to stretch from Terre Haute to Alton, Illinois.

When the Illinois Central route became certain in 1854, a stake was driven into the ground where the two railroads would cross. The land owners of this community met and determined that at the crossing they would build a town.

By Railroad and Steamboat, to the work in the State of Illinois.

John Meadows from Charleston, surveyed this section in December, 1854. In the following spring the lots were staked off, and for two years the baby village was called "Pegtown."

With shovels and picks, these brawny men built a railroad that spanned the prairie.

Erected in 1856, this grocery store stood at 1529 Broadway.

A lot sale was held the following day and after that events happened quickly. Mattoon was a booming little town, bursting with energy and growing like a weed. In less than three months the population had jumped to three hundred, and in 1856, more than one hundred buildings stood where the tall prairie grass had grown.

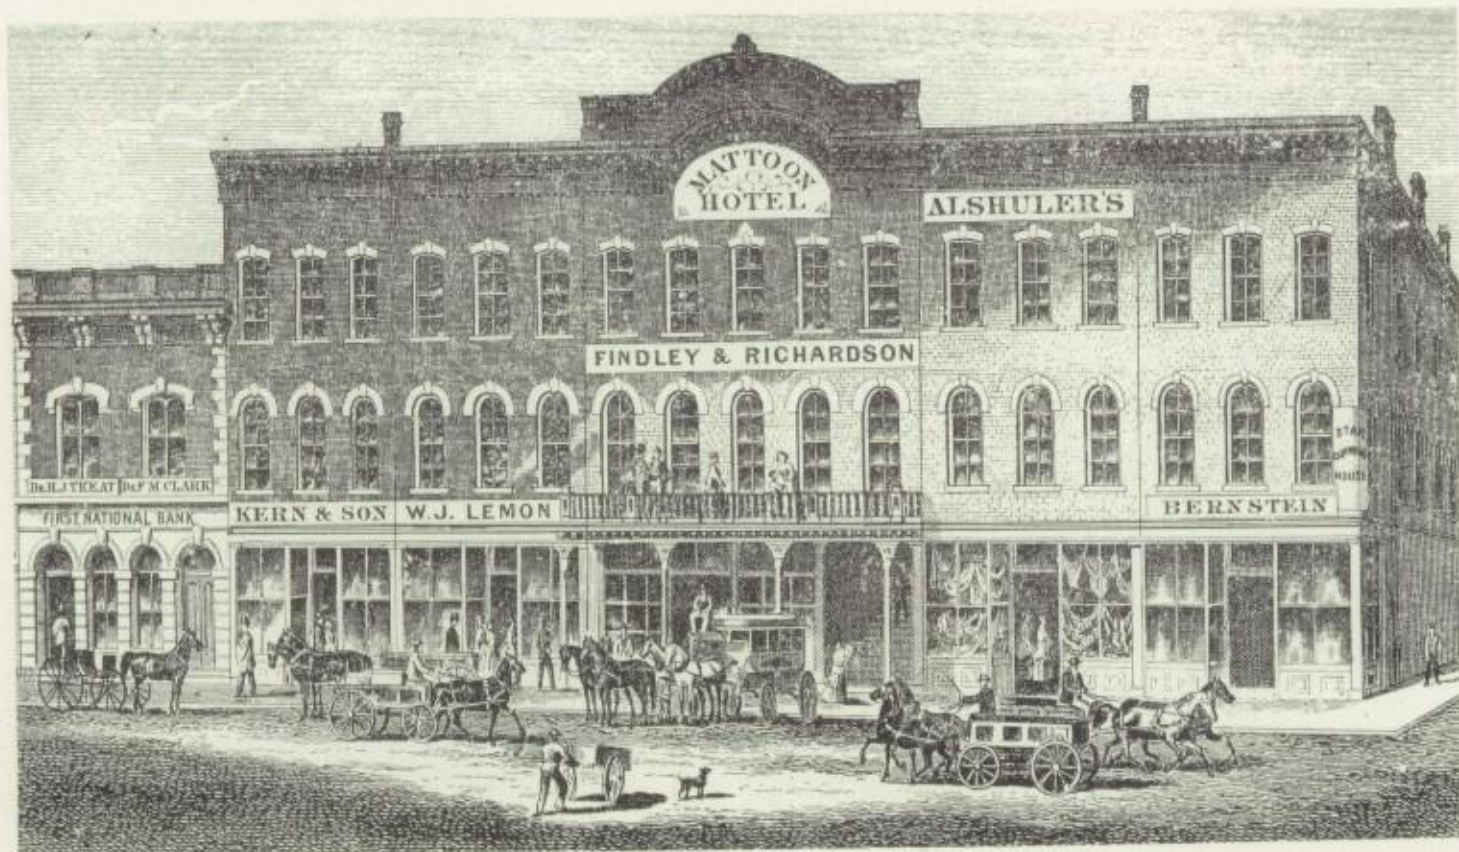

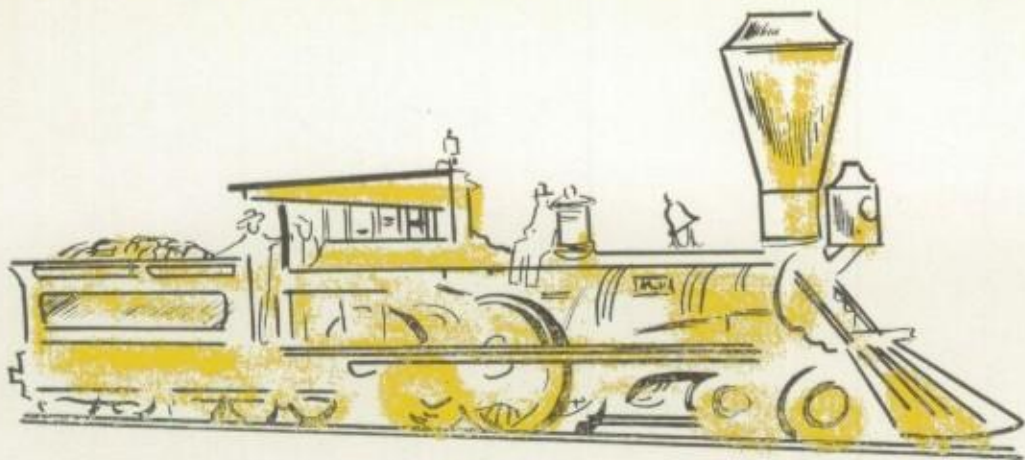

In those first few years, Mattoon was wide open — for anything. The doors of a half dozen saloons were swinging day and night. Gambling, card playing, horse racing, and even murder went on unpunished — and nearly unnoticed! Yes, those were wild days, but before long Mattoon began to stretch its legs and look around. The good influences started to take over, and soon Mattoon settled down to being a good little prairie town.

In the earliest days of Mattoon, Ichabod Jennings built this house for his bride.

The Mattoon Hotel, later named the Pennsylvania House.

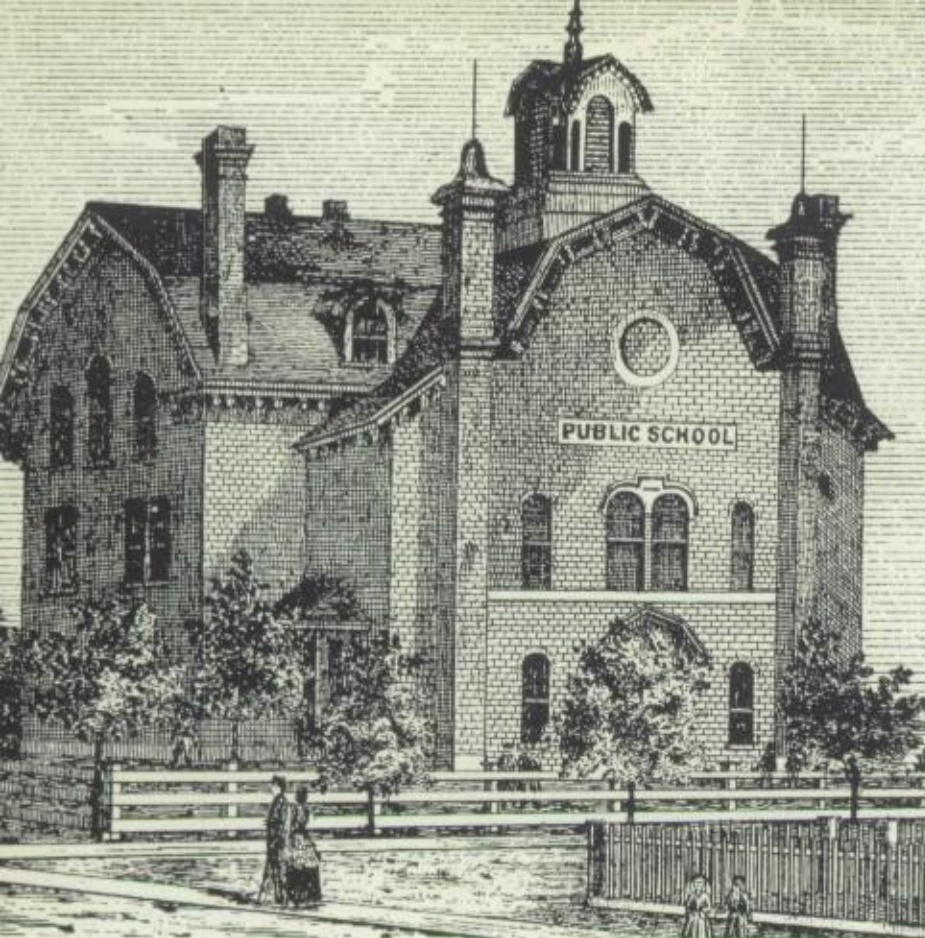

On a June day in 1855, the first train rolled over the shining rails to Mattoon. Three thousand people gathered to gaze in wonder at the miraculous iron horse. Soon after, a train schedule from Chicago to Terre Haute was arranged so other towns could make connections here. However, those early trains had a habit of being so late that their passengers would often have to stay over until the next day. Mattoon's hospitality became widely known, and many well educated families from the eastern states came bringing culture and social standing.

Two hotels in particular played important roles in the early history of Mattoon. The Pennsylvania House was the first big building in town, and the first sidewalk, paved with corncobs, led from the street to the hotel entrance. The Essex House, the best known early hotel, was one of a chain of "Eating Houses" where the trains stopped twenty minutes for breakfast, lunch or dinner. From a window space in this building, Abraham Lincoln spoke to a great crowd of local people early in the campaign of 1856.

The Essex House, built by Ebenezer Noyes, served as a depot for many years.

Sincere congratulations from W. S. Henry, Jewelers.

The West Side School, erected in the '60's.

The erection of churches and schools closely follow the birth of a town. In the winter of 1855, a school was held in a small frame house on Broadway in the east part of town. Each little pupil paid his few dollars tuition and settled down to the business of readin', writin', and 'rithmetic. Similar schools were held in various unoccupied rooms until 1857, when a brick building called the East Side School was erected. Then private schools were opened rapidly, but none were very successful.

Soon schools sprang up all over town and some were constantly being remodeled, enlarged or rebuilt to accommodate the increasing population. The High School building was erected in January of 1890, enlarged in 1902, and finally replaced by the present one in 1929. Now there is a beautiful new high school in our future.

The first Sunday School was held in a little building at 15th and Broadway. All faiths attended and argued over different interpretations of the Scriptures. Religion grew rapidly in Mattoon, and two churches, the Baptist and the Episcopal, were soon under way.

ictured above is the East Side School, now Longfellow.

The High School.

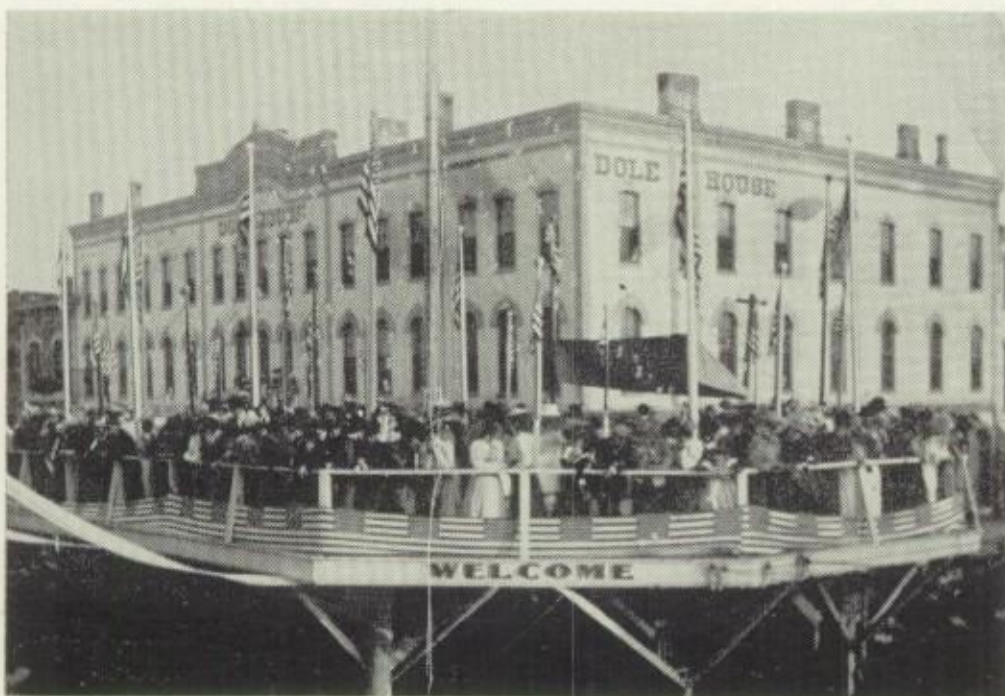

The Trinity Episcopal, one of the early churches of Mattoon, still stands at 2200 Western.

1897 ushered in the first of the famous free Street Fairs. Thousands of visitors came each year to join Mattoon in the fun. Never before had any similar event been held in this state, and from the first this became the "Street Fair City of Illinois." Mattoon was dressed up for the holidays in miles of bunting and hundreds of flags. At night the streets glowed with different colored incandescent globes and gas jets. A solid line of booths stretched down Broadway.

Out came the mustache wax, the celluloid collars and canes. The cotton candy and pink lemonade, a grand parade starring the Queen and her court, all sorts of strange and beautiful exhibits spelled out four days of dreamland for everyone. They marveled at the trapeze artists and balloon ascensions, yelled themselves hoarse at the races, rode the wonderful Ferris Wheel, and finally went home again to dream of the Fair.

Compliments of Radio Station WLBH and WLBH-FM.

Grains of corn formed the unusual decorations on this administration building.

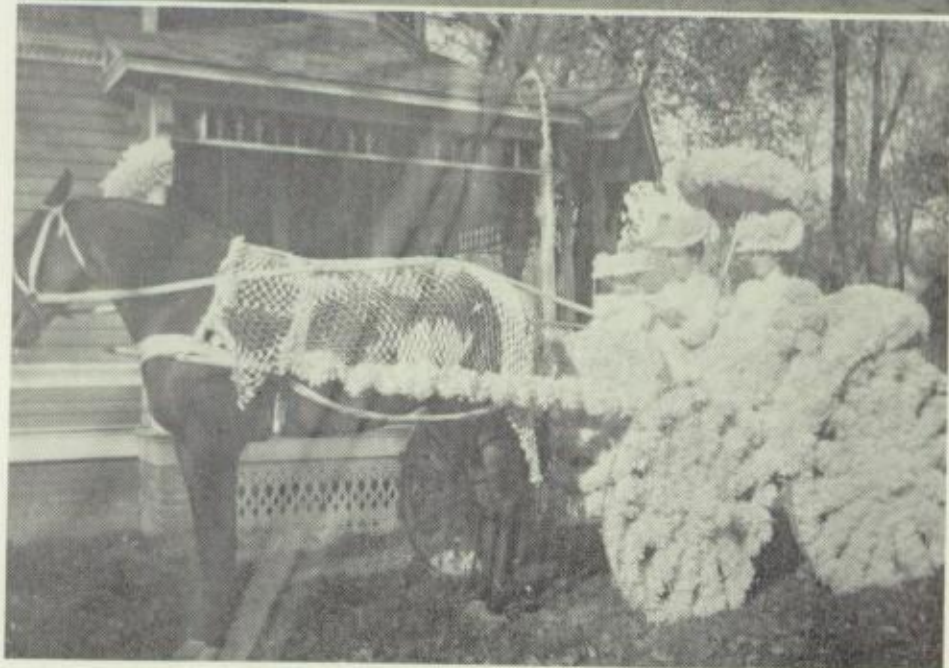

Listed among the Street Fair attractions were vaudeville, acrobatic, and animal acts.

Carts such as these were driven on Flower Carnival Day.

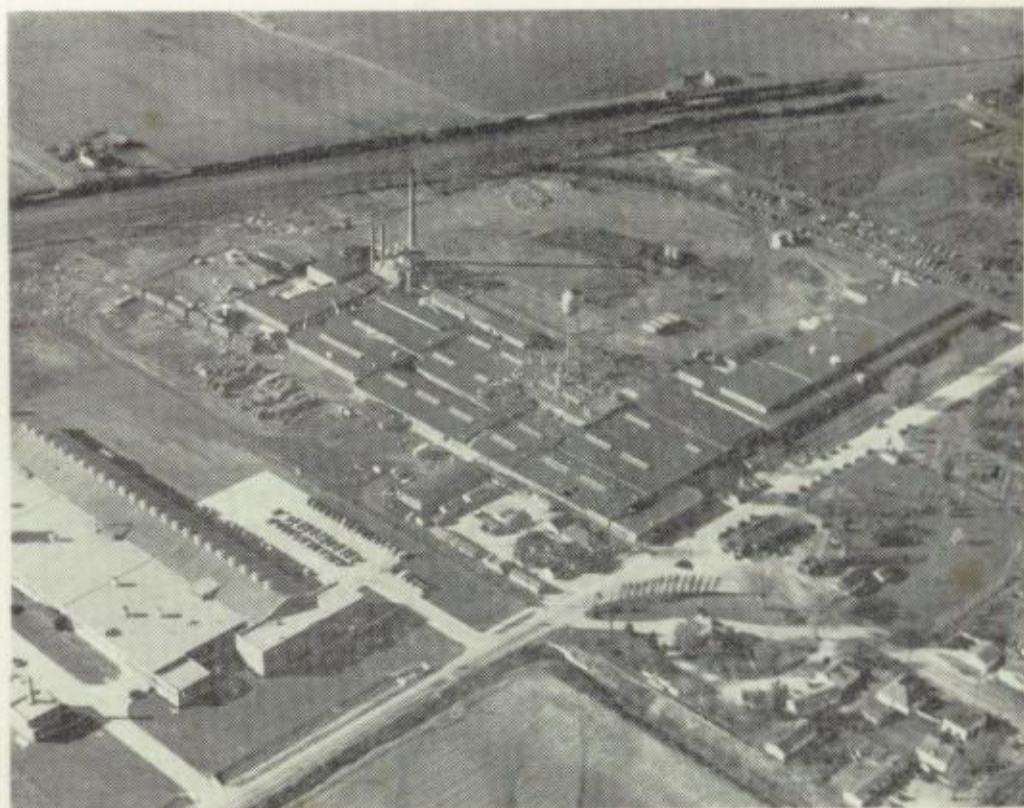

The dangerous Ferris Wheel made many of our grandmothers sit closer to grandpa.

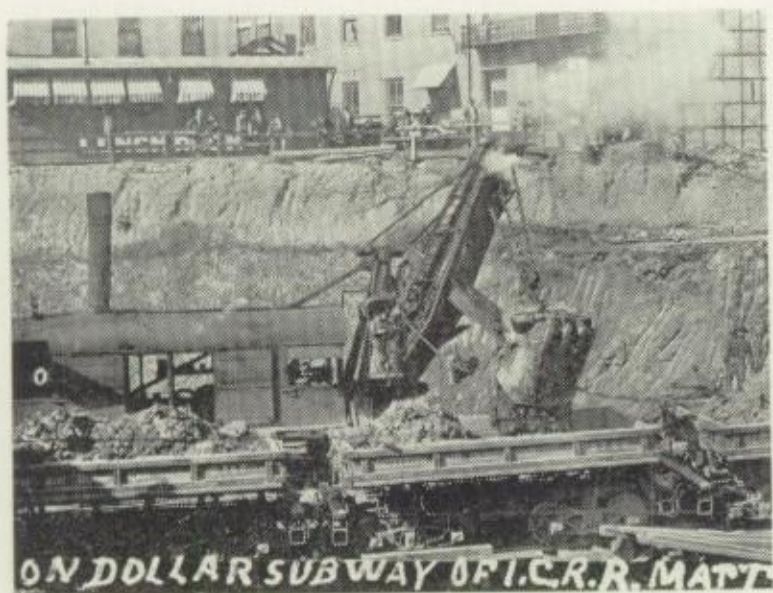

The beginning of the twentieth century saw the inauguration of a new era. Those hard, exciting years had come to a close; the golden age was over.

In central Illinois there lay a prairie. After centuries of solitude, a railroad came to hug the rich black earth, and from this union a city was born and a pioneer's dream fulfilled.

Barb Tomer, one of the top students of '54 receives her diploma.

Junior Class Officers, Barb Tomer and Dean Easton, lead the recessional.

Toward this moment we point each high school day. This is our graduation into a world of greater freedom tempered with increased responsibilities.

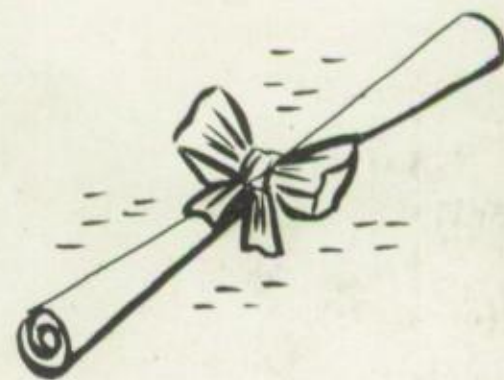

No matter what the future holds, we can never forget the classes and exams, the football games and dances that have been a part of our life here at M. H. S.

Somewhere in our memories there will be time and space marked high school days to be drawn out and looked at, remembered and cherished in time to come.

A little girl with a lot of charm is Barbara Tomer, our 1954 Homecoming Queen. Her dazzling smile, gracious ways and gentle charm won the hearts of all at Homecoming.

After The Big Game

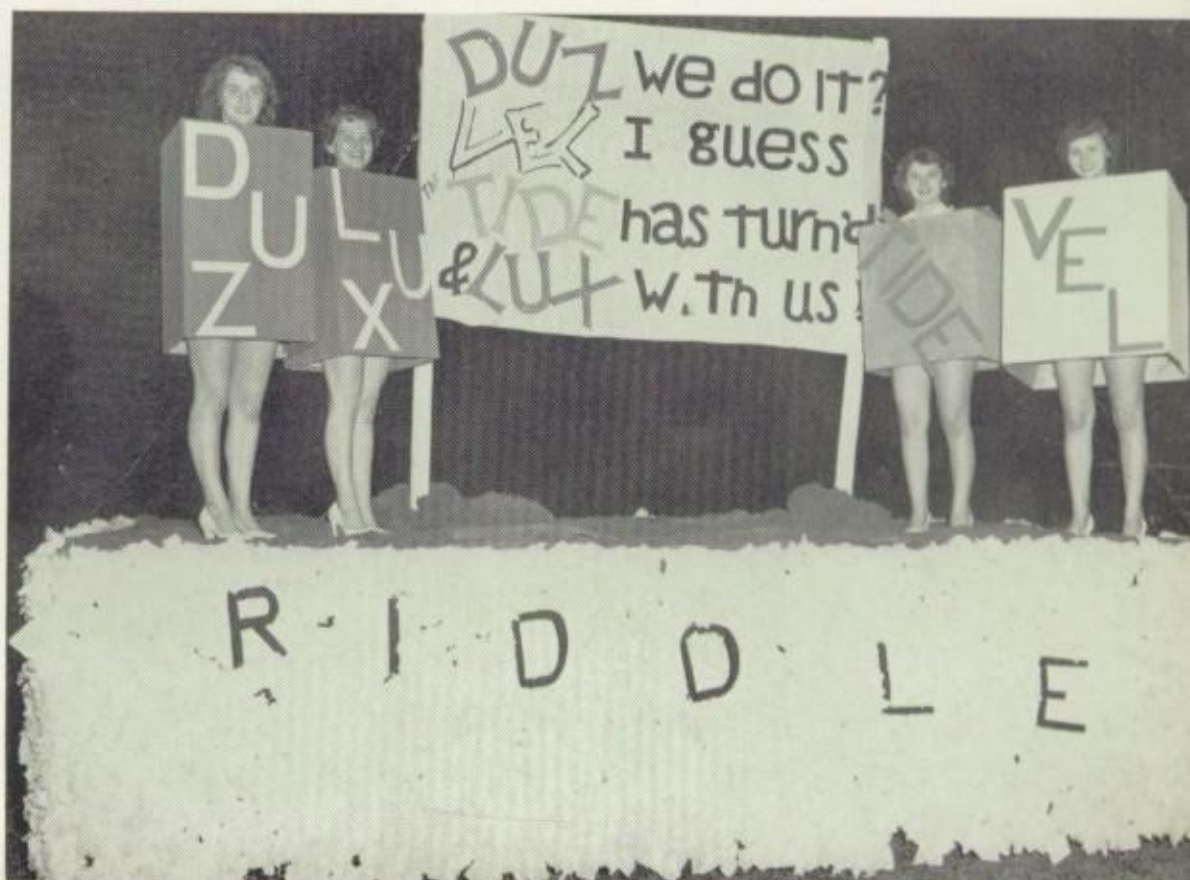

When drum majorette Sara Neimeier raised her baton to lead the parade, our 1954 Homecoming festivities began. A streaming line of colorful floats and cheering fans followed the band to Kinzel Field for a pep rally.

On Friday, we welcomed many familiar faces of alums and friends to our Homecoming assembly and tea where we renewed old acquaintances. Later that night we were all present to cheer "Go, Go, Go, Green Wave" against Decatur, our Homecoming rival. At half time a procession of beautifully gowned girls, were introduced as our Homecoming Queen and her court.

Immediately after the game we attended the Homecoming dance with music provided by Wayne Karr. As the final notes of "Goodnight Sweetheart" faded away, we were looking forward to the 1955 Homecoming.

Behind The Scenes

Action !!

Your line is

There are more people involved in the production of a play than the actors. Behind those velvet curtains you will find the stage manager, stage hands, make-up girls, property men, electricians, publicity agents, and by far the most important, the director.

A play cannot be cast and produced in a week or even two weeks. It takes many hours of hard, painstaking practice, but during the first performance, the results of those grueling hours of practice are shown and appreciated. A feeling of satisfaction courses through the director, the actors, and those ever-important "behind the scenes" helpers.

Put yourself into the part.

Where Policy Is Made

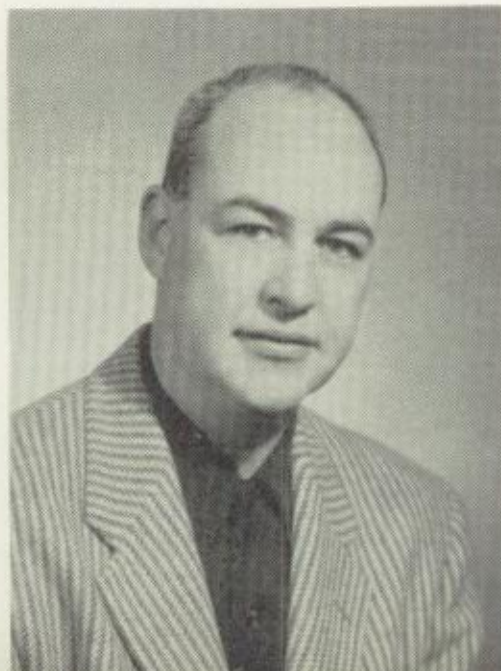

These are the people behind the scenes in our school system. With them rest the problems and decisions of planning the annual budget, letting contracts for repairs and building, and hiring teachers.

The members of the school board and Mr. Judge have been extremely busy this year due to the passing of the School Bond Issue. Without the reports and comments issued by the school board, it is felt that students would be surging through these crowded halls for many years to come.

Putting Theory to Practice

Another successful year has been put in by Mr. Herbert Clawson.

With the new eight hour school day, Mr. Clawson has had tremendous problems with which to cope. He is one who had to decide where these one thousand students were to be put. This is a problem that the average person would call impossible with our limited space. Mr. Clawson proved his worth and ability many times during the past year.

The unpopular position held by Mr. Weyrauch needs a man capable of dealing fairly and squarely with the student body.

To Mr. Weyrauch falls the unpleasant task of taking disciplinary action. The trials and tribulations of his job would try a saint. Mr. Weyrauch has overcome them masterfully.

Mr. John T. Weyrauch

Guidance Director

Here is the fella responsible for the Junior and Senior Class tests.

When you were in a dither trying to choose the topic for your term paper, Mr. Hooper's office was the first place you ran for an idea.

He is also the one whom the seniors should thank for his extensive and helpful information about scholarships. Another successful year can be marked up for Mr. Hooper.

Now as this year comes to a close, our thanks go to each member of the faculty for the loyalty, patience, and guidance that has been given us.

Class of 1956

Mrs. Worrell — Mr. Lackey

These, our Juniors, put in a busy year in the classroom, in clubs, in sports and in class activities. Their major undertakings were the Junior-Senior Prom and the selection of their class rings.

Under the capable leadership of their fine officers, the Junior Class has risen to greater prominence in the affairs of Mattoon High School.

We sincerely hope that in their senior year, these Juniors will continue to do the splendid job that they have started.

Seated — Treasurer Thalia Brandenburg, Secretary Carol Sempstrote.

Standing — Vice-President Ken Diepholz, President Ronnie Davidson.

Class of 1957

Mrs. Knapp — Mr. Gaines

These, our Sophomores, have already made a good start toward their Junior-Senior Prom, having saved many dollars from their fund raising activities.

They have given much promise in their performances in scholarship, sports, and in other activities.

Our sophomores are looking forward with eagerness to the future when they can assume the responsibilities of school leadership.

Seated — Vice President Judy White, President Jean Ann Judge.

Standing — Treasurer Carolyn Henry, Secretary Suzanne Summers.

Miss Lutz — Mr. Smith

These, our Freshmen, were probably "green as grass" a few months ago, but they have learned fast.

After learning the ways of our high school, the freshmen have made a good deal of progress in the classroom, in school organizations and in the sporting world.

We hope that they will finish the outstanding job that they have so ably started.

Decorating for Homecoming

A memorable homecoming, interesting assembly programs, and well organized elections register another successful year for the Student Council.

Thanks to the Lions Club and the Student Council members, our recreational problem was solved by the monthly Hit Parade Dances held at the Burgess-Osborne Auditorium. We enjoyed smoothing the rough edges from our dancing, but we're still asking, "What the heck is the Mambo?"

The Council set a new rule that students may be elected to serve as either a student council member or a class officer. This was gladly accepted by everyone, since this will give more students an opportunity to participate in school activities.

In order to gain and exchange new ideas with other high schools, the council sent members to a workshop at DeKalb and the state convention at Peoria.

Afterwards . . .

The officers this year were: Ann Maxey, president; Nancy Ashworth, vice-president; and Kathi Holloway, secretary-treasurer. Four band members, Patty Winfield, John Crum, Dennis Hamma, and Nancy Simpson, were elected to compose a Tribunal and act as judge and jury in all disciplinary matters.

In the spring, the band participated in the Illinois State Music contest at Peoria.

Dressed in green and gold uniforms, and under the direction of Mr. Chambers, this organization contributed enormously to our school spirit.

On Wings

Lending its voice to many occasions, the choir's year was highlighted by an hour-long Christmas concert. Christmas trees decorated the gym, where the Robed Choir sang songs of the Nativity Season.

Under the direction of Miss Julsrud, the choir attended the Big 12 Music Festival at Champaign; and a short time after, they gave a spring concert.

Of M.H.S.

For a few days before each deadline we all went around mumbling to ourselves and wailing, "Why did I ever take this class?" There were zillions of pictures to be taken, reams of copy to be written, and a box full of ads to be sold — and that was only the beginning.

Yes, those were the times when we all felt like joining the foreign legion; but now, looking back on it all, it was fun.

To the patient teachers whose classes we interrupted, and to each faithful friend who bought a taffy apple or checked his coat with us, we give our thanks and hope you enjoy your Riddle.

Our advisor, Mr. Tweedy, checks and double checks.

Headlines

Mimeograph ink runs thick around Room 221, and almost anytime during the day someone can be found typing up a story or drawing in an ad.

When the newspaper bee gets in your bonnet, it's usually there to stay. Ask any one of these editors or reporters and he will say that the fun and satisfaction always seems to outweigh the work of putting out a paper every two weeks.

Thanks to each one on this staff for a year of good reporting, and we'll be seeing you tomorrow in the Times.

It was another blue ribbon year for the FHA. Aside from their many other duties, these girls built a float and sponsored the Alumni Tea at Homecoming. In the spring they held a skating party and gave the annual Mother-Daughter banquet. Juanita Trout was this year's candidate to the Sweetheart Ball, the outstanding event on the FHA social calendar.

Camera Club

Pasted in many scrapbooks are pictures of that special evening at the Spring Party or Junior-Senior Prom. That memory will still be vivid in the years to come, thanks to the Camera Club. They printed over one thousand pictures of various events this year.

In addition to posing and taking pictures, these club members also learned to develop, print and enlarge the film. For a hobby that is interesting, useful, and a lot of fun, amateur photography heads the list.

Pros and Cons

It is resolved

The 1953-54 debate squad went to the state contest, and this year many of its members were back again to lend their experience to the team. Under the supervision of Mr. Fischer, they learned how to prepare for a debate and then present their side effectively.

This year's squad participated in the Big 12 and Greenville Tournaments, and they went to the sectional contest at Paris. The president of the club was Dick Record.

Exploring The Wonders of Science

The Science Club officers mix up a bottle of perfume.

This year's Science Club had lots of fun finding out what makes things tick. Several members worked on individual projects which they exhibited at the Science Fair at Eastern Illinois State College. In the spring, the group took a holiday and visited the University of Illinois Engineering Open House.

Standing — Mr. Smith, advisor.

Seated — Ann Record, Tom Hightower, Conrad Blew, James Brumm, Sam Fuller, Tim Gover.

Social Science Club

Under the supervision of Mr. Smith, the Social Science Club discussed many of the important issues of the year.

In preparation for a nation-wide test in March, several non-members attended the meetings to gain a better understanding of the constitution and purpose of the United Nations.

A trip to St. Louis climaxed a busy year for the Footlighters.

Performances at assemblies and dances, and entries in district, sectional, and state contests were among the club's more important projects. The casts for the one-act plays presented to the public were chosen largely from the club.

Rex Roberts presided as president of the club. Roger Misenheimer, Vice-President; MaDonna McKittrick, Secretary; Barbara Tomer, Treasurer; and Arnold Grube, Program Chairman, were the other members of the executive branch.

Mr. Fischer rendered his capable services as advisor.

Office Occupations

Within a few years, many of these students will probably be members of the faculty here at M. H. S. The F. T. A. Club is proving its value in acquainting the members with the teaching profession. Through practice teaching at the grade schools and studying modern classroom techniques these club members are getting a head start on the preparation for their future careers.

The members of this club are employed in the offices of various business organizations in the city.

In December, the O. O. class toured the Illinois Consolidated Telephone Company. They attended the Springfield Convention again this year, and gave the annual Employer-Employee Banquet in the Spring.

Row 2 — Gary Clifton, Don Sempstrote, Tom Owens, Larry Cummings, William Price.

Again this year this organization was under the capable supervision of Mr. Crites. These students work several periods a day on jobs that do not require salesmanship or secretarial skill. By taking this class, these D. O. club members have gained a year's experience in the occupation of their choice.

Diversified Occupations

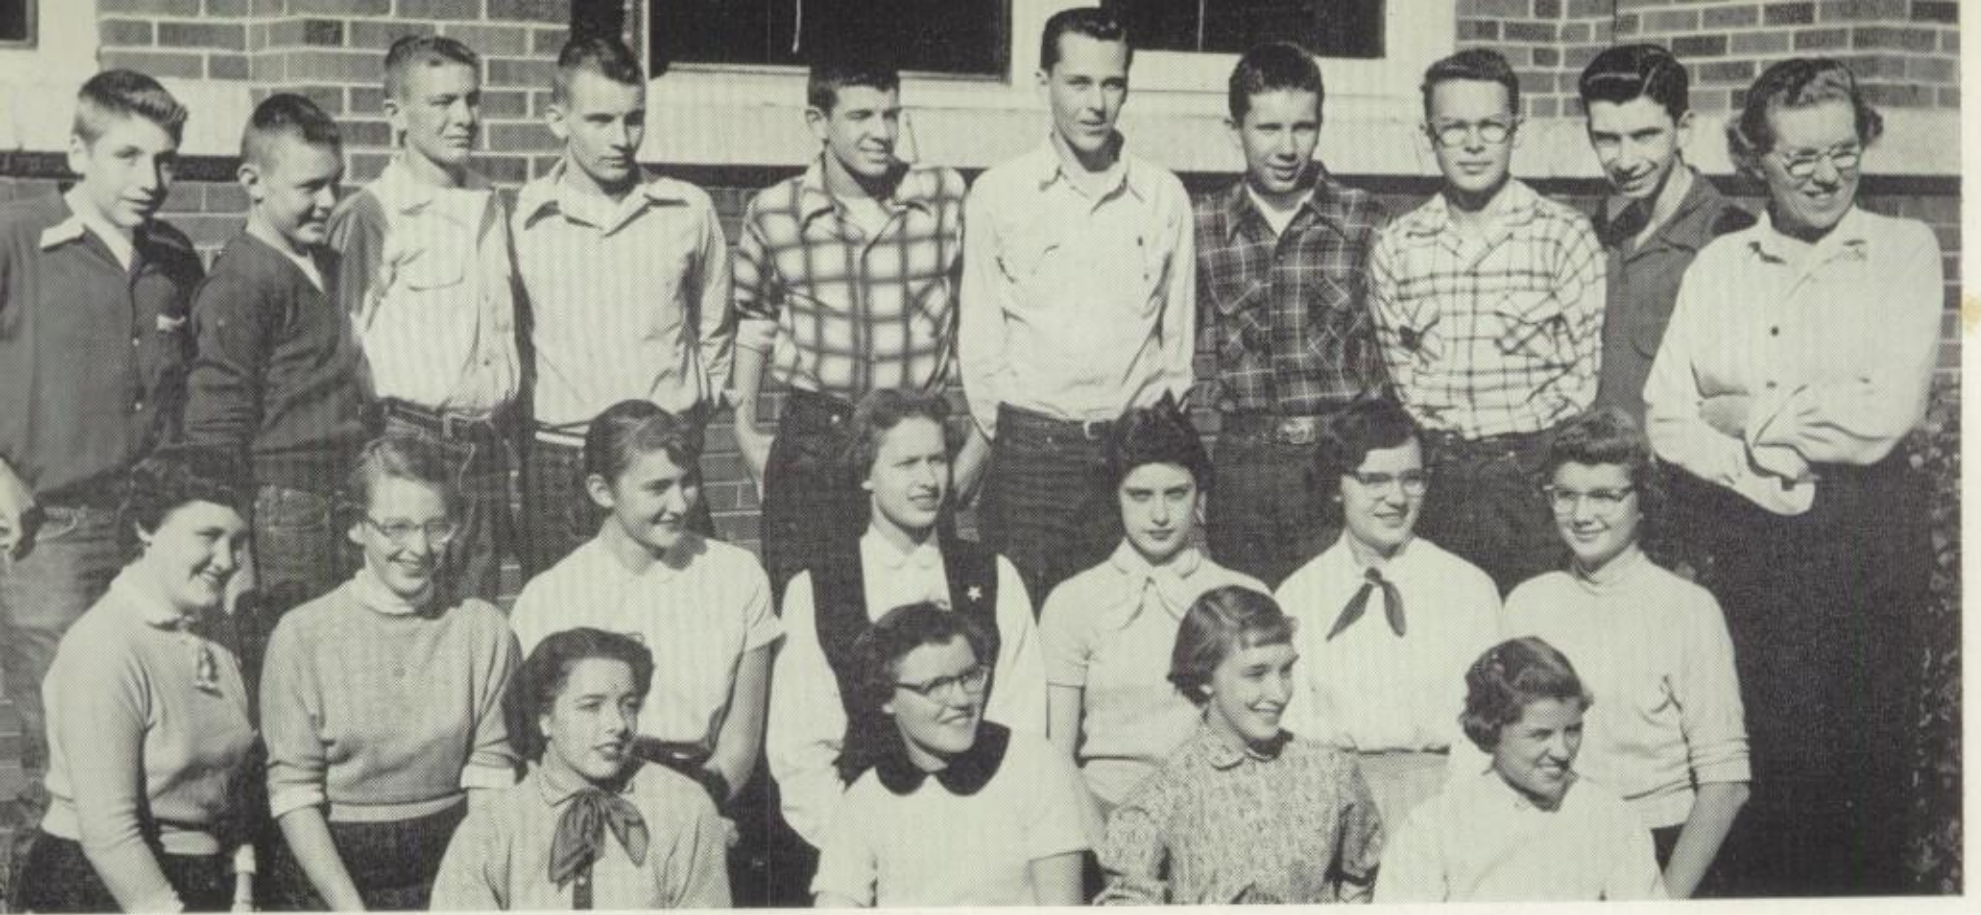

Sponsored by Neumode Hosiery.

For the popcorn and refreshments we enjoyed at the ball games, we thank the D. E. club who helped finance its activities through this and other projects. These Distributive Education students have been working in many of our local retail stores. In the future we are wagering they will be among the very best sales personnel.

Spanish Club

It's a fast-shrinking world we're living in, and languages are becoming more important each day. With Latin America lying only hours to the south of us, and Europe a short flight across the ocean, these club members are preparing for the future when many will visit these countries.

Compliments of Thrifty Drug Stores.

The club membership is limited to second year students. Only the language being studied may be spoken at the Spanish and French Club meetings.

French Club

Latin, the language of the great Roman Empire, has left its impression on the modern world. Many other languages, including English, have been based on it. In addition to learning Latin, these students also study the family life, and famous fables of Ancient Rome. For a daily trip to foreign lands, join a language class.

Though the Green Wave won but one game, their determined spirit, their "Never say die" attitude, and their splendid cooperation, led Mattoon fans to mutter to themselves, "Wait 'til next year."

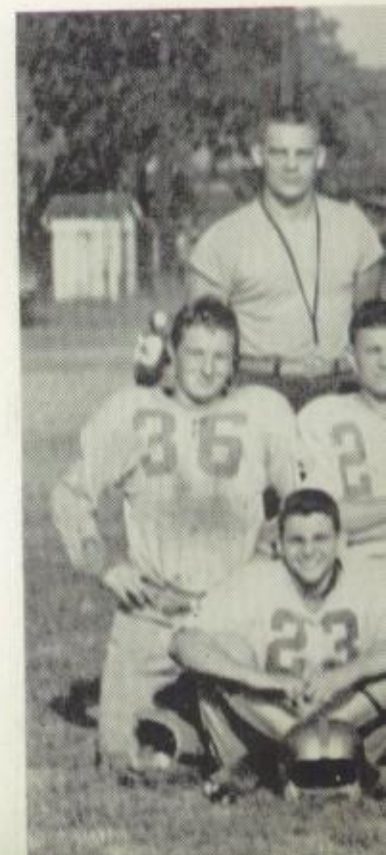

The Wave came up this year with some sparkling offensive plays and some very strong defensive tactics. The nucleus of this year's squad was made up of sophomores and juniors with only four lettermen returning from the '53 season. Of these four, three were back-field players. As a result, next year's experienced linemen should make viewers sit up and take notice.

Mr. Colin again coached the Wave. Bob Hart, our outstanding quarterback, was captain of this year's squad.

As proof of the aggressiveness and skill of our players, Bob Hart gained Special Mention on this year's All State listings while Chuck Montgomery and Herschel Sharp rated Honorable Mention.

FOOTBALL — pushups, knee bends, rolling blocks, head on tackles, side-stepping, learning plays, studying rules, wind sprints, tired muscles, ankle wraps, and liniment — these things come to mind. The night of the big game we forgot all that and played hard to win. We thrilled to the good plays and groaned over the poor ones. We did our best all the way.

Compliments of Dilsaver and Gilkerson.

The Freshmen turnout for the Little Ripple squad was disappointing, but as the season progressed, things didn't look so gloomy. Under the hard work of Coach Walt Storm the squad steadily improved which brought a feeling of satisfaction to him.

The season record for the team wasn't outstanding, but their determination proved to be a main factor to make up for this deficit.

Harriers

Coach Ed Lash's Harriers led by Dick Storm, completed the season with a 6-4 record. This squad was slated to have a good season and as each meet progressed this fact was soon realized.

Dick Storm was the outstanding performer as he placed first in four meets and seventh in the District. However, without the help of his running mates, the season would not have been a success.

Coach Lash had five returning lettermen, Dick Storm, Dick Kragler, Carl Owens, Duane Bryan, and Bob Gass to help round out a nucleus for the squad.

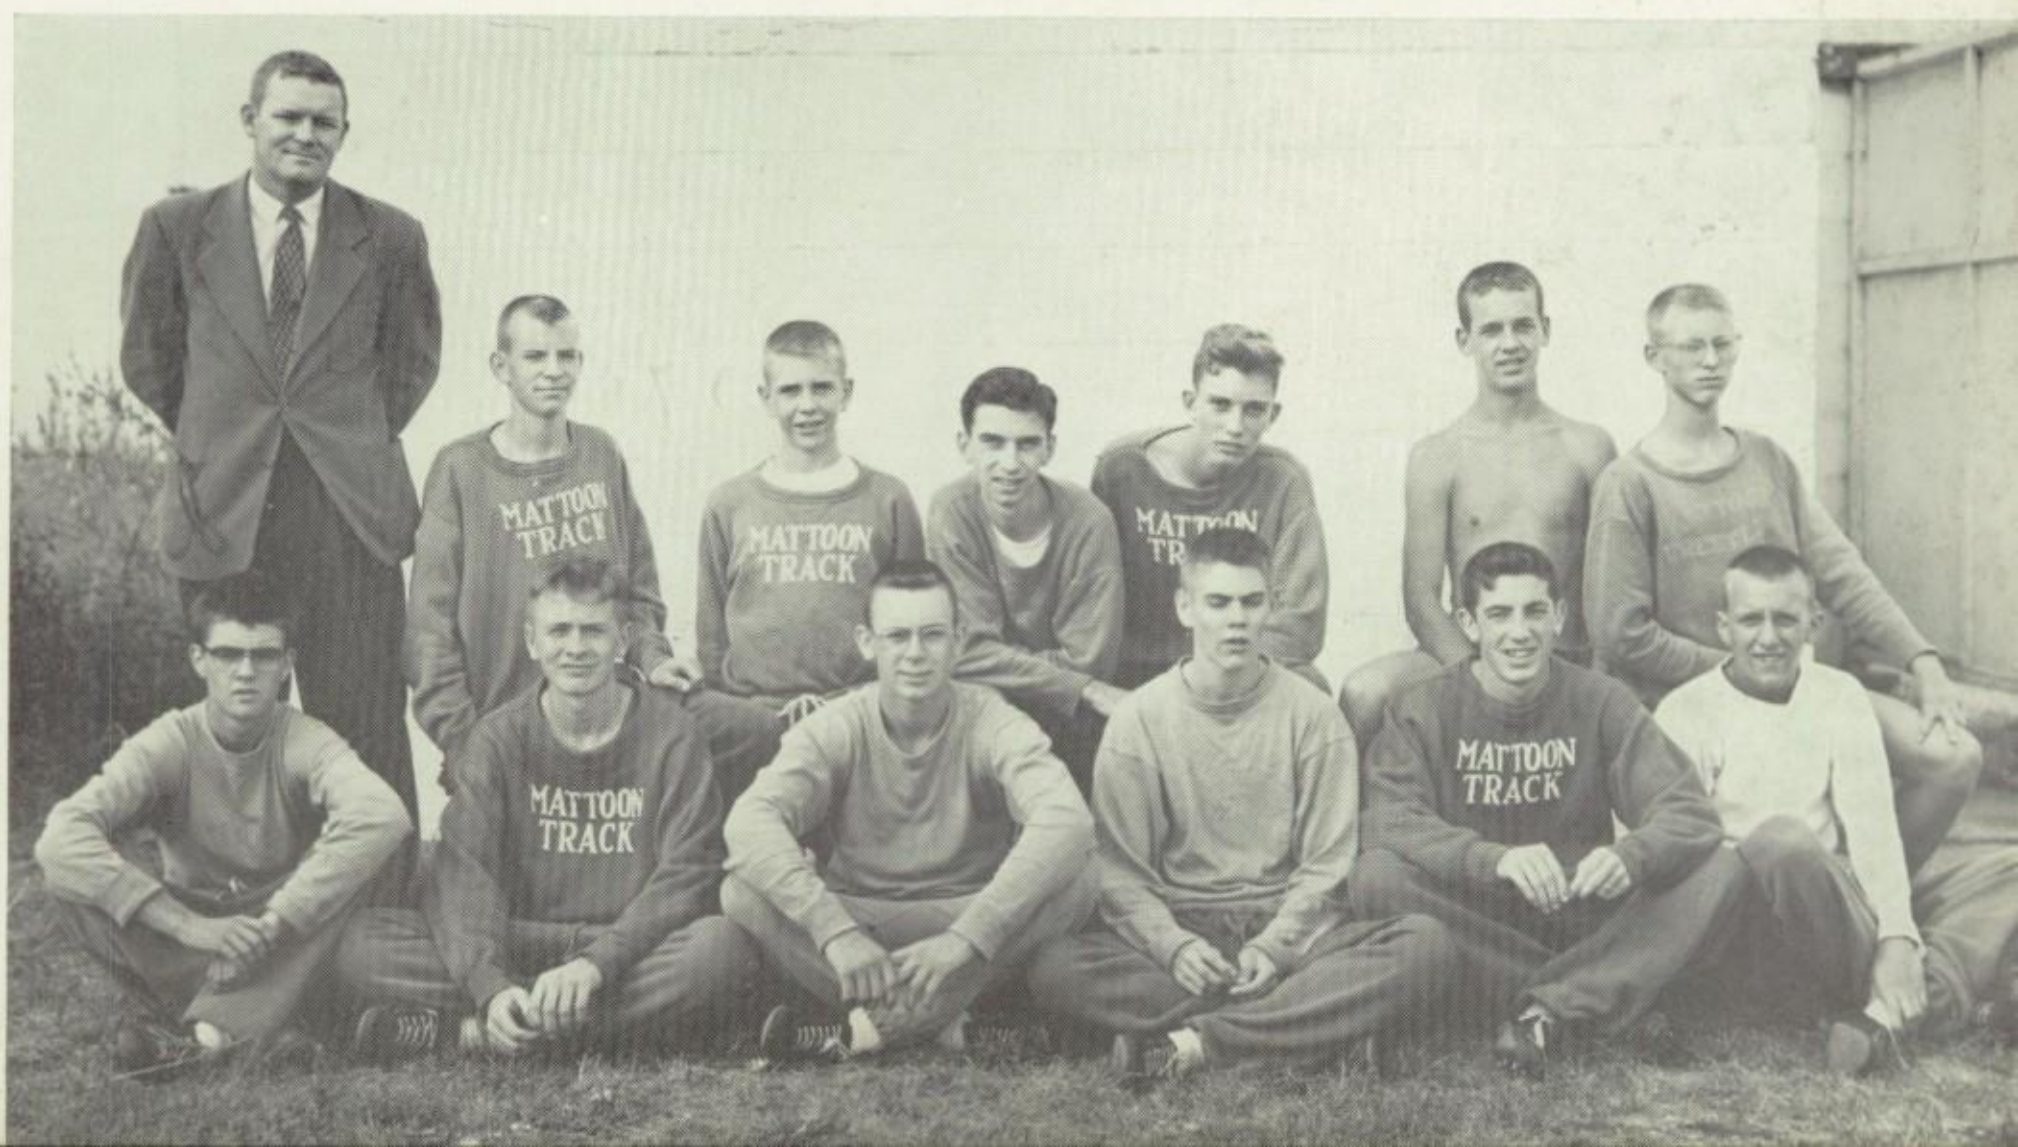

Looking toward next year, the team will be supported by five returning lettermen. These boys have an eager desire and the experience which should prove valuable for next year.

King Basketball

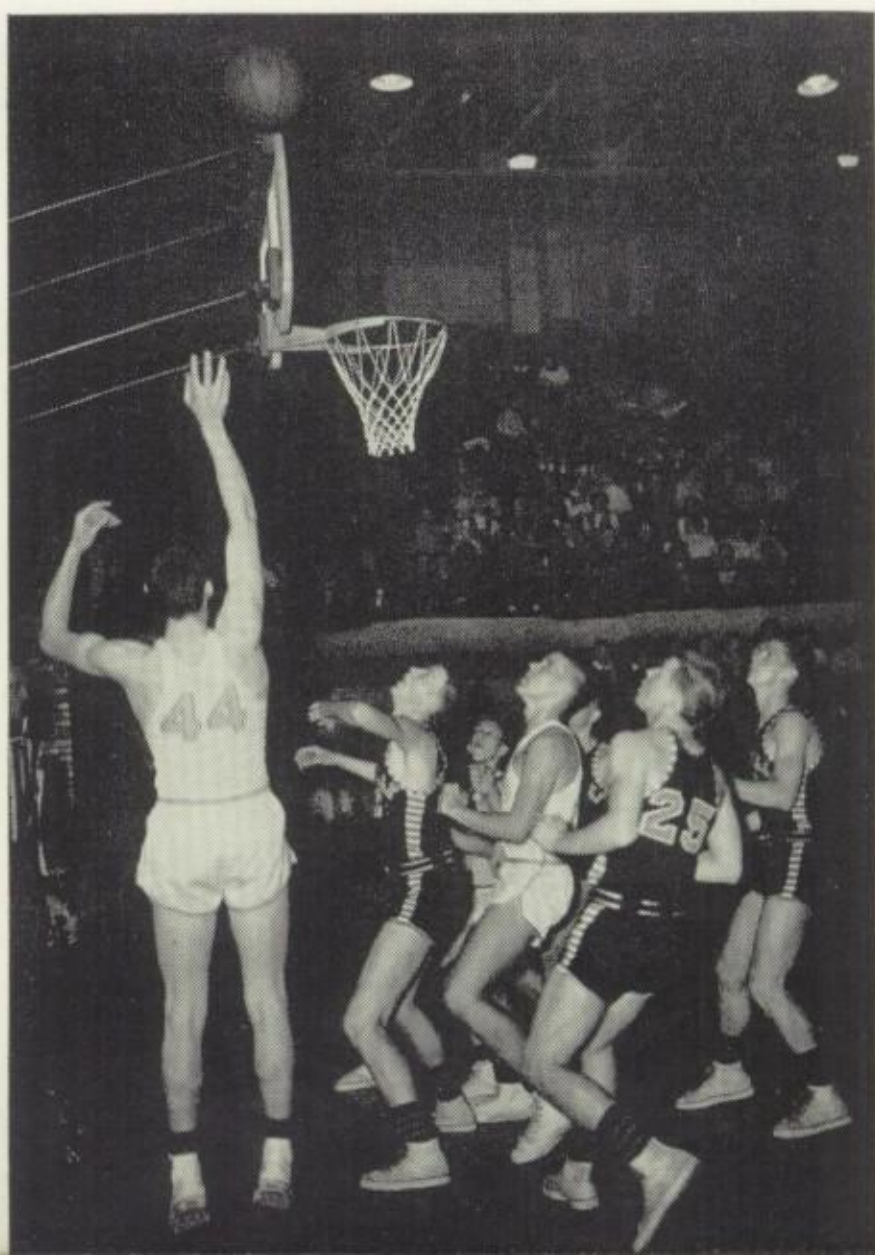

An experienced Green Wave quintet will roam King Basketball's hardwood courts in the 1955-56 season. Only two seniors, Bob Hart and Harold Garbe, were on this year's squad. Bob and Harold, along with Bob McDowell, were the only returning lettermen.

Lady Luck lent no helping hand to the ill-fated Green Wave squad. Though they lost most of their games, the team showed signs of being a fighting ball club down to the final seconds of each game.

Andy Sullivan was the mentor of the Wave for his third consecutive season. It is hoped that the experience gained by the sophomore and junior members of the team will provide Coach Sullivan with a winning team in '55-'56.

Basketball — the thrill of the swish as the ball drops through the net. There is the jump, the tension, the ball arches through the air, it drops downward. Will it go in? Will it bounce out? Our hearts stood in our mouths. Tension oozed out as it fell in or out, just to be remounted again as we struggled with our boys to block that shot, to get that ball. In these we die a hundred deaths, endure a thousand agonies — to back the boys who played.

Junior Ripple

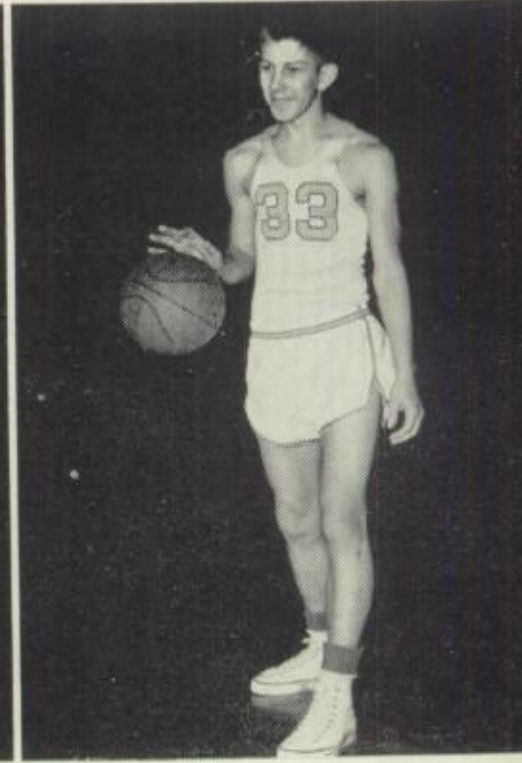

The Junior Ripples, under the successful coaching of Ed Lash completed another outstanding season. At times these boys had to play against older and more experienced players, but they usually came out on the winning end which proved their outstanding ability.

Three or four boys of the "B" squad usually dressed for the varsity game and some even received limited action which will help to mold an experienced varsity squad for the coming years.

We hope that this fine group of boys will continue to progress and thus make it one of the better varsity squads of M. H. S.

Matmen

An experienced group of "grapplers" represented the Green Wave this year. Coach Chuck Oyler was blessed with eight returning lettermen who turned in some aggressive and determined performances. The new members of the squad also proved to be of great value to the team.

The defeats of Mattoon were at the hands of only those schools of exceptional strength. These schools will not be as strong next year as they were this year so this fact, along with the knowledge and experience that has been gained by the local boys, should prove to be an asset for next year's team.

Thinclads

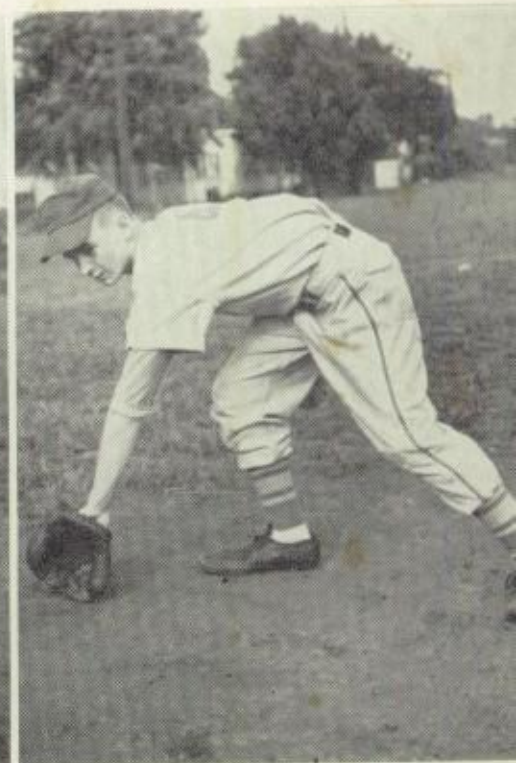

Coach Walt Storm took over the helm from Max Patrick to become Mattoon High's new track coach. Five returning lettermen, Charles Montgomery, Jerry White, Ed Berkowitz, Jerry Armstrong, and Joe Orndorff, formed the backbone of the '55 squad, which was rounded out by the new members on the team.

There were no individual stars; consequently the boys learned the value of team work. Three of these five lettermen will be back next year. These three plus a promising group of Freshmen-Sophomores should form a good team for next year.

Diamond

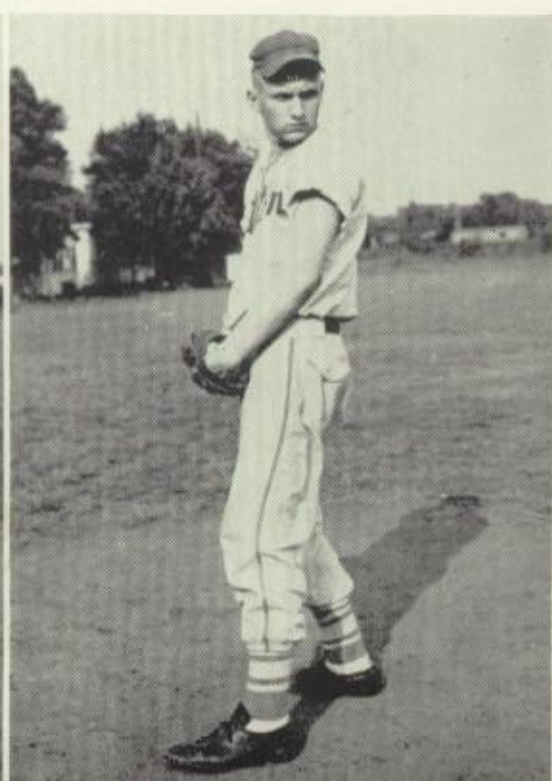

A very impressive team of veterans was fielded this year by Coach Ed Lash. These boys, who have been playing together since freshmen, came through as expected, but also a number of unexpected diamond men turned in some satisfactory play.

Several boys of value were lost because of graduation. Because of Coach Lash's efforts a group of "green rookies" were turned into "seasoned veterans." The outlook for next season should be good.

Racket Squad

The tennis squad was supported by four returning lettermen, Dick Woodfall, Jim Baker, Ronnie Chaplin, and Clark Nelson, who came through as was expected of them.

The two senior lettermen, Woodfall and Chaplin will be replaced next year by capable players who have steadily improved over the course of the season. However, these two net men have not as yet been designated by Coach Oyler.

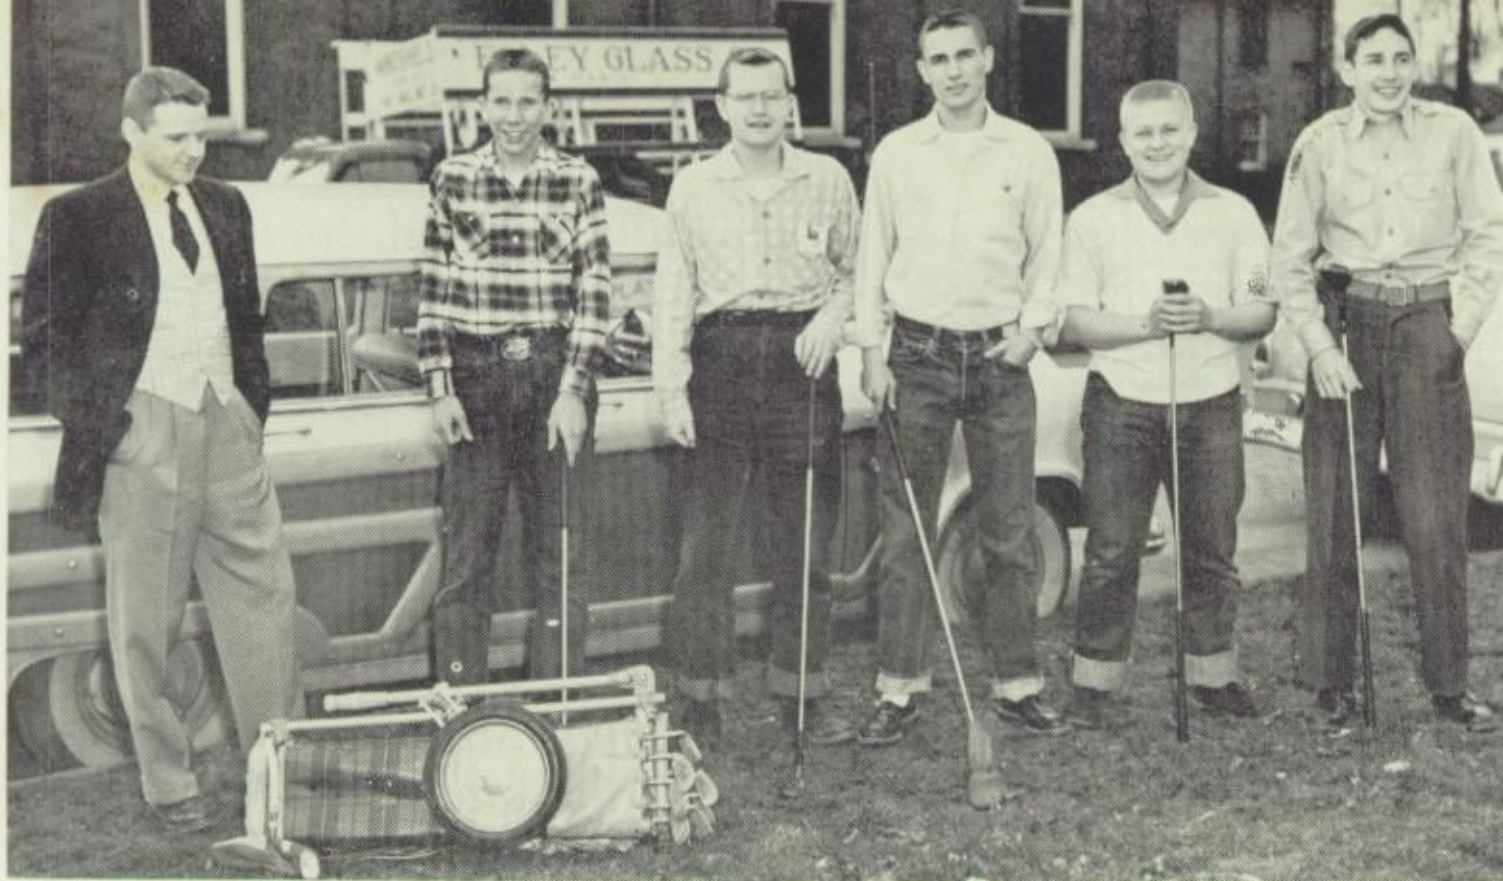

Two of the first four, Baker and Nelson, will be back next year.

Linksmen

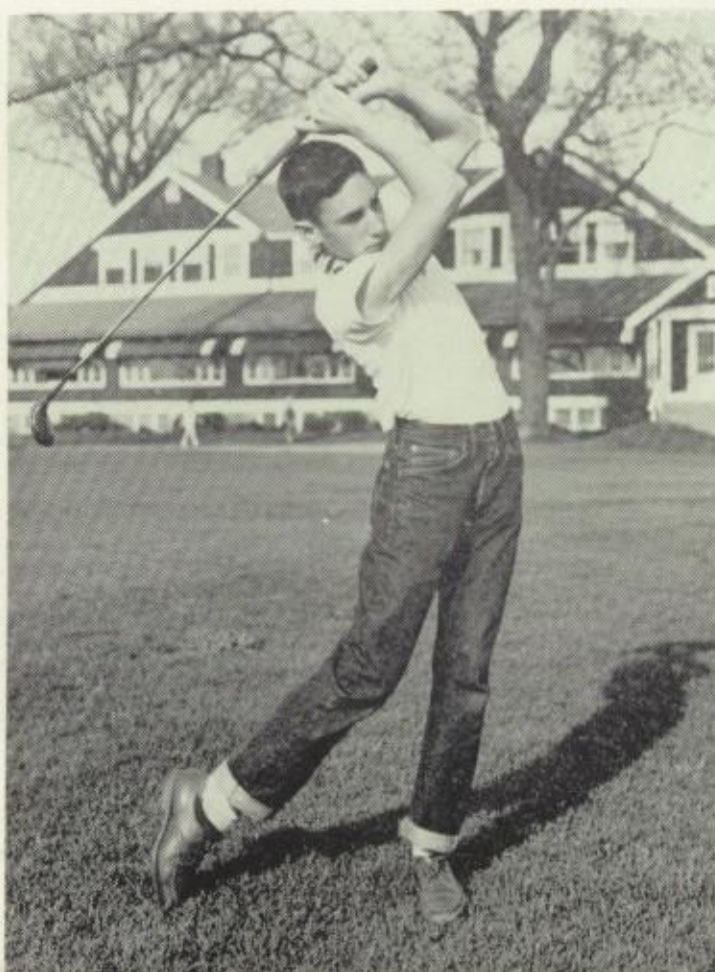

With only one returning letterman, sophomore Gordon Smith, Coach George Moritz is in the process of rebuilding his team.

This season turned out to be better than was expected through the efforts of Coach Moritz and his inexperienced but determined squad.

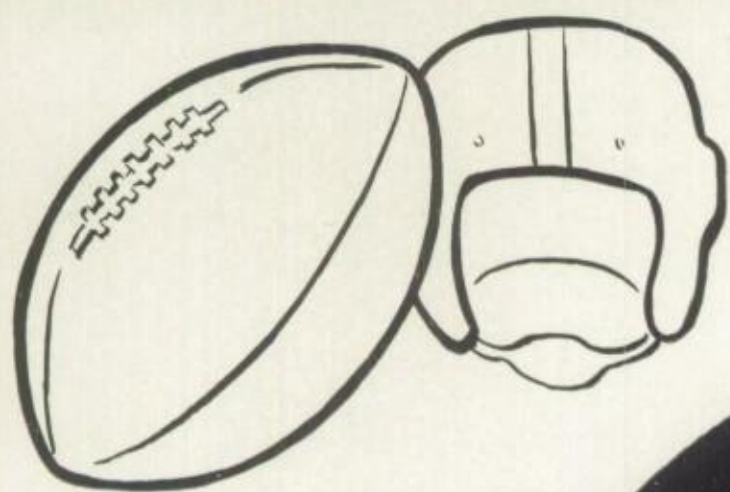

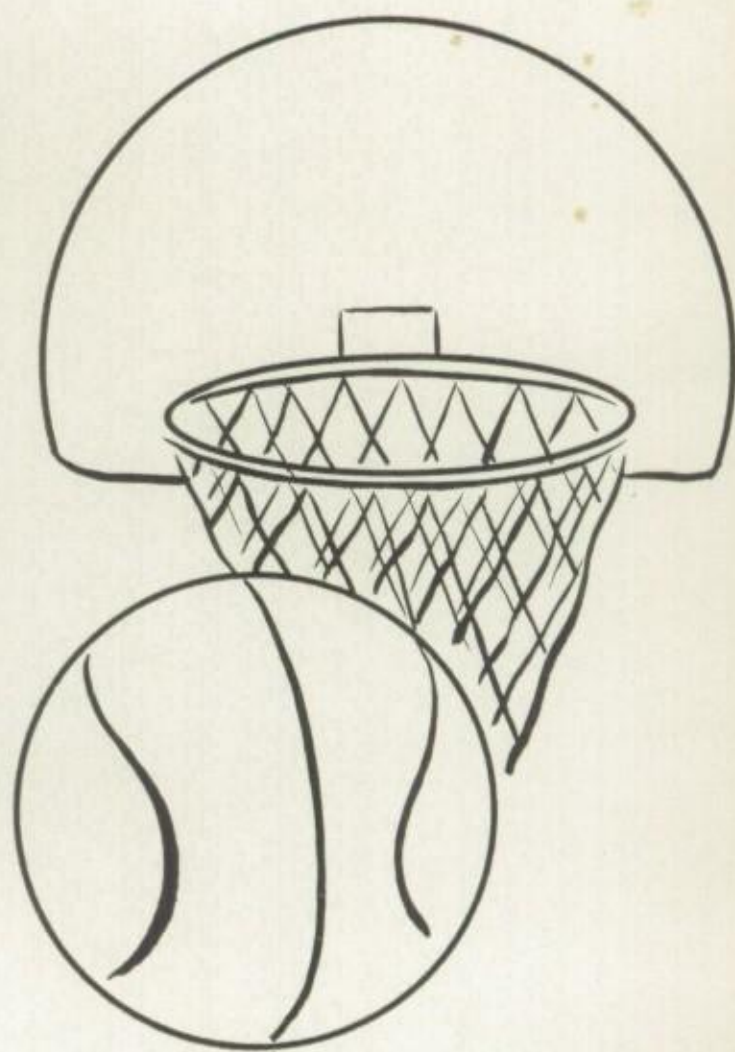

We only hope that Coach Moritz and his linksmen can continue to represent the school in as creditable a fashion in the future as they have in the past.

Girls' Athletic Association

This year an unusually large number of girls joined GAA. They had the opportunity of attending a play day at Charleston and planning their annual "Mother-Daughter Banquet." This banquet was in honor of the year's winning basketball team.

Throughout the year, you often heard girls asking one another, "Have you signed the list to play basketball, volleyball, or badminton or do you have rifle or stunts tonight?" Whether it was basketball or rifle, we're sure the girls have enjoyed participating in this year's organization. The girls are looking forward to the future when they will be able to compete in more sports in the new school.

Hi Sandra
I'll be in the corner
just around the last year and so is our last year of high school! Let's make the best of it next year!
Have fun this summer,
and loads of luck in everything you do!

Love,
Marilyn

Hi Sandi
Loads of luck in the future.
Don't forget our Bookkeeping class. Hope we have classes together next year.

Hi Sandra,
Best of luck
in the future to a girl who deserves
Loni Podesta

Hi Sandra,
Don't forget that wonderful game of speedball. Will have a wonderful time not drinking in D.E. next year won't we.
Marilyn Austin

Hi Sandy
Don't it a shame that we have both got the same first names.
I will anyway I have had a lot of fun with you this year in P.E. class! Loads of love to you.

Sandy,
loads of luck always.
Take good care of M.W. I met great. She can't stand too much rough treatment,
you know!
Love
Nancy

Dear Sandra
lots of luck &
remember our fun
in P. Co. B.K.

Sandra
I hope we can really have fun together this summer since we were so close together in the last

Sandra!
I had a lot of fun this year and I hope you did too. Good luck
